The Producers:

William Shakespeare wrote "All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players. They have their exits and their entrances, And one man in his time plays many parts." As Seniors, we leave behind a familiar set of security and prepare for a new scene in a world of uncertainty.

I would like to express my sincerest gratitude to everyone who made our drama a reality. A special thanks to my staff for their invaluable time and countless hours of hard work.

Statistics

The Halsted varsity football team, last year's tri-state champs, suffered a 1-5 record season. Despite the five losses, the team did enjoy the annual rout of the New Rochelle team.

The loss of last year's seniors caused this season to primarily be a time of rebuilding. The squad consisted of only three seniors this year; Ben Batts, Tom Beneventano and Ricky Conn. However, to next year's team will return those sophomores and freshmen who gained valuable experience on the field this year. An improved record is expected for next season.

Halsted's first exhibition game against Fieldston.

The Halsted Hornets, about to start another season, are hopeful of a successful campaign. The Hornets will put up a starting line consisting of senior Benny Batts (3rd year), junior Carlton Batts (2nd year), junior Allen Hecht (1st year), junior Cliff Schultz (2nd year), and sophomore Jim Waitzman (1st year). With Bennie Batts as swingman, rookies Allen Hecht and Jim Waitzman playing the front and Carlton Batts and Cliff Schultz positioned at the backboard, the Halsted Hornets are hoping to re-capture the western title which escaped them last year.

This year, Halsted's baseball team will play 11 games.

Although this year's squad has lost all of last year's outstanding seniors, there is plenty of new talent to fill their shoes. The team can look forward to an excellent season, and a possible championship season under its belt with this roster.

To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven:
A time to seek, and a time to lose; a time to keep,
and a time to cast away;

The true artist knows no pride, yet he sees that true art has no boundaries. He feels engulfed in mystery, because he sees how far he is from his goal, and even if he is admired by others, he still grieves the fact that he has not reached that point at which his sheer genius only shines like a distant sun.

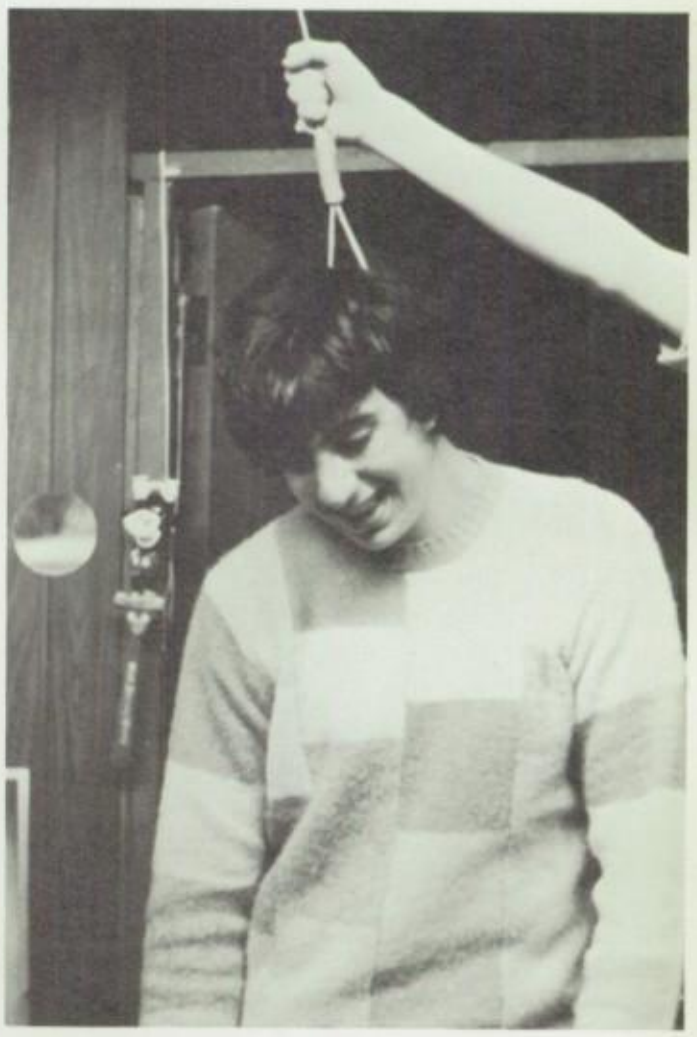
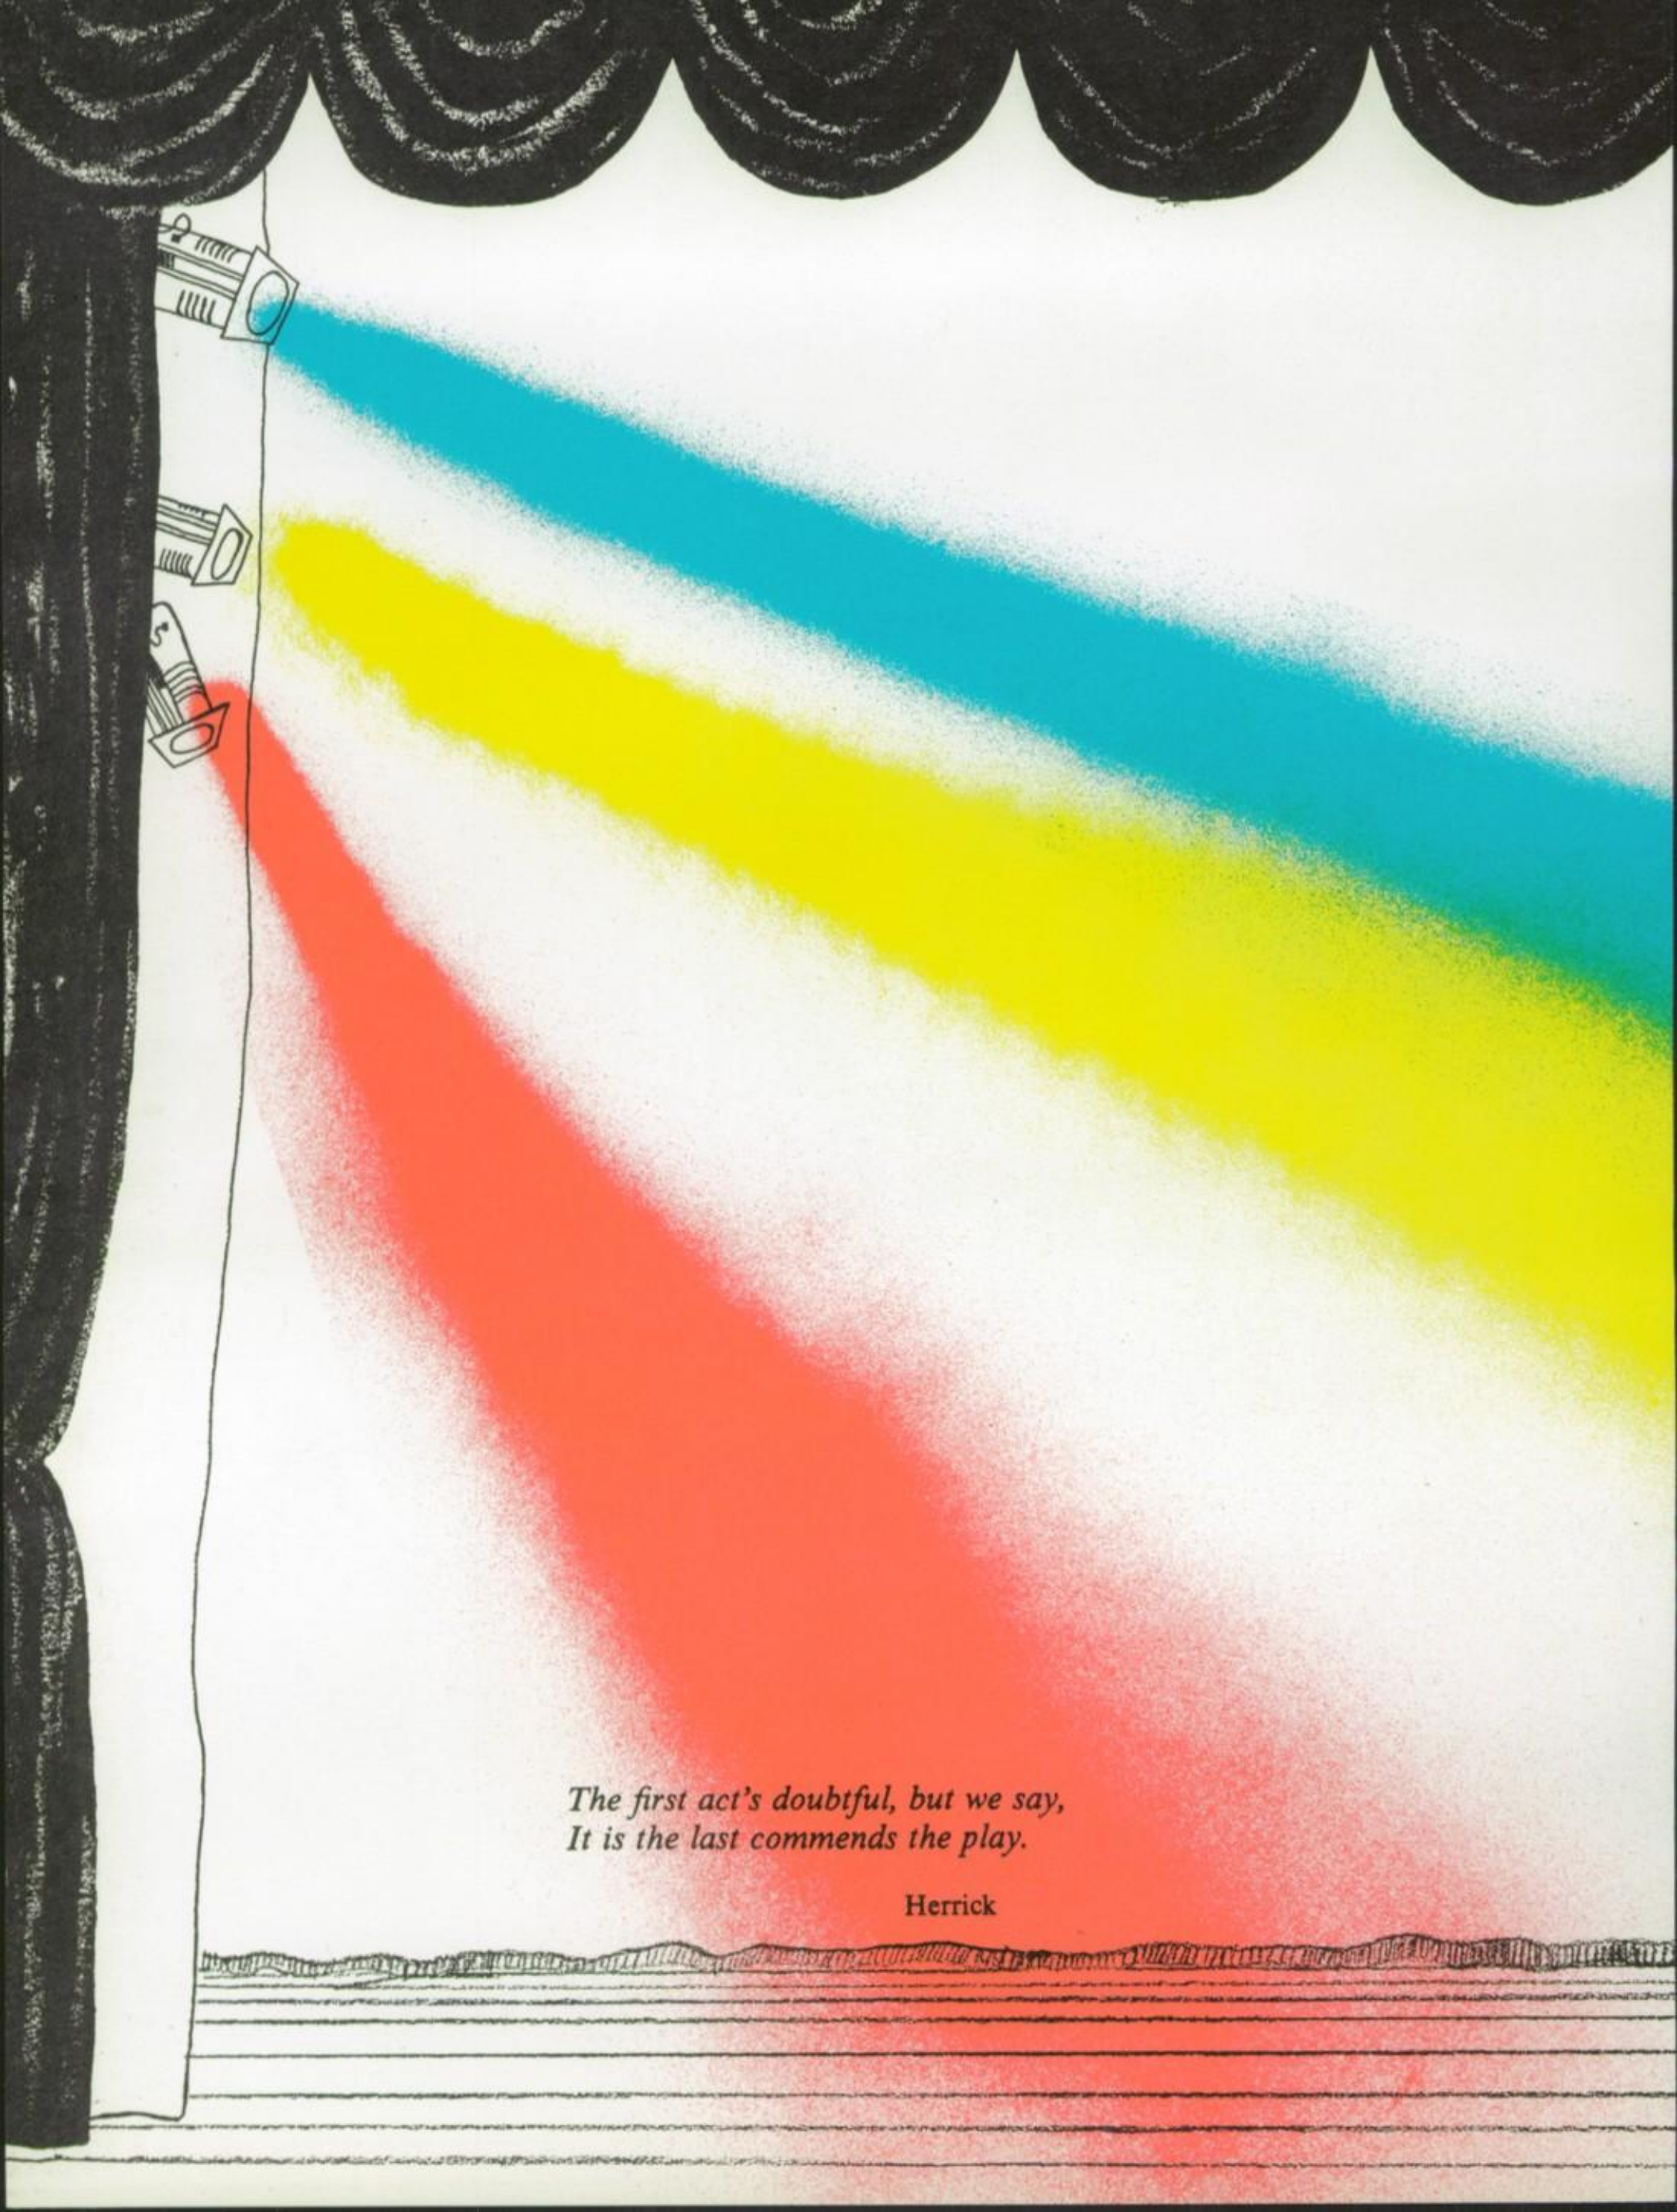
Billy has a better idea.

History is so stimulating.

Paul is out standing in his field.



Tom hangs around.



The first act's doubtful, but we say,
It is the last commends the play.

The play is done; the curtain drops, slow falling to the prompter's bell: A moment yet the actor stops, and looks around to say farewell, It is an irksome word and task; and when he's laughed and said his say, He shows as he removes the mask, a face that's anything but gay.

William Makepeace Thackeray
